

People at every stage of their careers will find opportunities at The M.A.G Group to move ahead more rapidly than is possible at most other firms.

Your advancement depends on merit, and we have yet to find the limits to the responsibility our best people are able to assume.

Most likely, your experience will best suit you for the role of specialist within a particular business unit or division, which will reflect and build upon the expertise you have gained outside The M.A.G Group. You are, however, welcome to apply for any position with the firm that interests you.

We take great pride in the professional quality of the advice and execution we provide our clients. We are constantly seeking creative, team-oriented colleagues who share our uncompromising determination to achieve excellence – professionals able to bring intensity and integrity, intellectual curiosity and leadership potential to our team.
